

The definition of the intersection is shown in the graphic below. If the light is first red and a vehicle enters the "intersection shown in the graphic", the vehicle will be determined to have run a red traffic signal indication, which carries a $125 fine amount, or $25 if this is determined to be a "right turn on red after stop" type violation.

